The 22" Cable Gland Computer stands out as an indispensable tool in food and meat processing. Powered by a robust Windows 11 platform and the dependable Celeron J6412 CPU, it ensures reliable and efficient performance. Its IP69K waterproof rating shields it from the most demanding cleaning processes. The integrated cable gland, capable of managing up to five I/O cables, guarantees efficient cable organization. With the added advantage of WiFi 6, it offers seamless and high-speed wireless connectivity, further enhancing productivity in these challenging industrial environments. This computer combines durability, hygiene, and advanced technology, making it an ideal choice for food and meat processing operations.
